Requirements Engineering II

Assignment 3

Requirements Engineering in Social Networks

Dr. Anne Koziolek
Dr. Norbert Seyff

I.   Task

Individual Tasks
- The mandatory items in the reading list help you perform the Requirements Engineering task in this assignment. Read [Gruenbacher2000] and [Kukreja2012] before starting with the task.

Group Tasks
- Perform a Requirements Engineering task with WinBook. Please follow the instructions described in the slides belonging to this assignment. The slides can be found online on the course webpage (http://www.ifi.uzh.ch/rerg/courses/hs12/re-ii.html).

II.   Reading List

Mandatory reading
[Gruenbacher2000] describes the EasyWinWin approach, which is the foundation of the process that you will use for gathering requirements on Facebook. [Kukreja2012] briefly introduces the WinBook tool and approach (also see http://youtu.be/xFUj9Gj5XTU).

References

Gruenbacher, P. (2000). Collaborative requirements negotiation with EasyWinWin. Database and Expert Systems Applications, 2000. Proceedings. 11th International Workshop. 954-958.

URL: http://ieeexplore.ieee.org/stamp/stamp.jsp?tp=&arnumber=875141&isnumber=18943

Kukreja, N., Boehm, B. (2012). Process implications of social networking-based requirements negotiation tools. Conference on Software and System Process (ICSSP), 2012. 68-72.

URL: http://ieeexplore.ieee.org/stamp/stamp.jsp?tp=&arnumber=6225983