

Be part of the Nomoko team!

Introduction

Nomoko is a Swiss tech startup unlocking the potential of industry through the power of Digital Twins. We're building an ecosystem for data suppliers, data users, developers, partners and businesses across every industry to access spatial data, and build and use spatial solutions using Digital Twins.

We offer a great opportunity for a curious, tech-savvy student to join our skilled team for a project-focused internship!

Internship Web Development

Contract: 12-week internship
Workplace: Zurich, Switzerland

Your Project

You are passionate about everything related to web development, coding and web applications? Great - we're offering the perfect opportunity for you! Our web development team is currently looking for active student support to push ahead the future of Nomoko!

During this internship you will be responsible for a web development project from creation all the way to delivery where you will work with tiled web maps and databases. You want to develop an interactive and modern web application and cooperate with different stakeholders? Be assured that during this journey in our web development team, you will see and understand the full scope of a web application.

Our Requirements

- Current enrollment in a degree program in computer science in Switzerland

- Solid knowledge in JavaScript and, ideally, first experience with map libraries, as well as ReactJs and/or TypeScript
- Excellent language skills in English (written and spoken)
- Knowledge about web applications and basic understanding of databases
- Comfortable with working in a dynamic, fast paced environment
- Interested in learning about agile methodologies

Benefits

Being an intern in our web development team at Nomoko means...

- Learning about the Digital Twin concept and applications thereof
- Working in an innovative, dynamic start-up environment
- Being part of the Nomoko team & working with great people from all over the world
- Having a flexible working schedule – we care about what our employees achieve and we trust their competency and commitment to get work done instead of imposing rigid rules around working hours

We work hard to offer a safe, inclusive working environment, where our employees are encouraged to be themselves, while treating co-workers with respect and kindness, so that we can all grow and achieve Nomoko's ambitious goals.

Closing

You're interested? We'd love to not only take a look at your CV, but also learn more about your motivation to do this internship at Nomoko. Please submit a short cover letter and a recent transcript of records from your studies via the following link:

Nomoko \(Zürich\): Internship Web Development \(join.com\)

We're looking forward to receiving your application and your answer! Please note that we can only consider applications via the online platform.